PREFATORY NOTE

Because there was no appropriation in 1911, the Manual was not printed. Short biographies of the members of the General Assembly of 1911 are on file in the State Library. The Librarian desires to keep these biographies as a matter of historical record. Opinions differ on the question of how much material about the State should go into this Manual. Necessarily the conclusions are somewhat arbitrary. The material in this compilation has been prepared by Grace Nixon, of the Librarian's office.

DEMARCHUS C. BROWN,
State Librarian.

SAMUEL M. RALSTON, Governor of Indiana, was born December 1, 1857. His parents' names were John and Sarah Ralston. Mr. Ralston's education was obtained in Central Indiana Normal College, Danville. He studied law in Spencer. Governor Ralston served many years on the School Board of Lebanon. He was President of the Board in 1908-1911. He was a presidential elector in 1892. In 1912 he was elected Governor of Indiana for four years, from January, 1913. Mr. Ralston is a member of the Presbyterian church, of the Masons and of K. of P. In politics he is a Democrat.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Adopted by the Democratic State Convention, 1912.

We, the Democratic Party of Indiana, in convention assembled, renew our allegiance to the fundamental principles of Democracy, and declare our faith that only by a rigid adherence to the just doctrine of equal opportunity for all and special privilege to none, can the people be relieved of the burdens that oppress them.

We reaffirm our belief that the Federal Government is one of delegated powers and deny that those powers can be enlarged by legislative enactment or judicial construction.

We cordially indorse the record of our Senators and Representatives in Congress and especially approve of their firm and persistent efforts to remove the iniquities of the protective tariff system as inflicted upon the country by the Payne-Aldridge Act. This act is the latest Republican expression in practice, of the principle of protection. This principle, as applied in this and kindred prior acts of legislation, has hatched into life and nourished into strength a vast brood of monopolies and trade conspiracies which rest as a deadly blight on industry and commerce.

It has, through the artificial prices which it fosters, carried deprivation into millions of homes, and tended to produce conditions of unmerited opulence and undeserved poverty.

It has worked false and fraudulent relations between capital and labor, cast the class spirit over society, and produced an increasing ferment of unrest and discontent throughout the country.

It has made merchandise of tariff legislation, projected the leprosy of corruption into the politics of the nation, and sought, with the proceeds of the remorseless exactions which it authorizes, to debauch the citizenship which it has first impoverished.

This vicious perversion of the taxing power of the Federal Government multiplies upon the country the very mischiefs which all good government is designed to prevent. Against this evil, and in correction of this abuse, we demand the application of the principle, "That Custom House Taxation, like other forms of taxation, shall be for public purposes only and not for private gain; that such taxation shall be limited to the actual necessities of the government, honestly, efficiently and economically administered and so levied as not to discriminate against any section, industry, class or corporation."

We approve and indorse the record of the last Democratic Legislature of Indiana; and especially commend its efforts to secure the purification of the suffrage, and to provide better facilities for the prompt and speedy administration of justice. We warn the people that without honest elections popular government is a sham and a delusion.

The existing corruption of suffrage is notorious, notwithstanding the efforts of the Democratic party to remove it, beginning with the Australian ballot law in 1889.

The attainment of honest elections lies at the foundation of all other reforms, and of all progress. The effort of the Legislature to provide an opportunity for the people to vote on much needed reforms by the submission of a proposed new Constitution, has been arrested by a suit which is now pending in the Supreme Court of the State.

The Democratic party awaits the determination of the questions involved in that suit with full confidence that the judicial branch of the government will discharge every duty imposed upon it.

We endorse the record of the last Legislature for rational, progressive legislation. It ratified the Income Tax amendment to the Federal Constitution. It promoted honest elections by a general Registration Law, and rigid Corrupt Practice and Campaign Publicity Law. It did a long deferred act of justice by passing a liberal Employers' Liability Law, which abolished technical and unjust assumptions of contributory negligence, the fellow servant rule, and the workingman's waiver of legal rights. It also passed a law for the weekly payment of wages by corporations and prohibiting the use of time and credit checks where money wages were due. It enlarged the powers of the Railroad Commission and empowered it to fix the rates of common carriers.

Child labor laws were strengthened; a cold storage limitation was imposed; a standard of weights and measures was established; sanitary school houses with medical inspection of pupils are required; the block signal was rendered obligatory on all steam and electric railroads; a Bureau of Inspection for factories, mines and boilers was established; a Commission to advance agricultural and industrial education was formed; building and loan associations were brought under State control, and a system of uniform public accounting for all offices, large or small, throughout the State was perfected.

The Democratic party has always advocated the largest measure of liberty to the individual citizen, consistent with the public good. It still recognizes and believes in the old Democratic principle of local self-government. In the treatment of the temperance question, the last Democratic Convention declared in favor of local option, making "incorporated cities, townships and the territories in townships outside of such cities, the units of election," which principle and declaration we now reaffirm, and we commend the fidelity of the last Democratic Legislature in its redemption of that pledge, and in providing by law for a stricter regulation of the liquor traffic. We demand a rigid and impartial enforcement of the law and we again declare against the repeal or modification of the present remonstrance laws.

We indorse the action of the present Democratic House of Representatives in passing the Sherwood Pension Bill, which we regard as a step in the right direction, towards giving just relief to the surviving veterans of the Civil War. We especially commend the Indiana Democratic members, in both Houses for their strong and effective support of the bill.

We favor such amendments to the present primary election laws of Indiana as will insure honest and fair selection of candidates to be voted for by the people.

We favor the enactment of such laws as will provide for the better and more economical construction, maintenance and control of our public highways.

We favor the general principle of the payment of wages at least semi-monthly.

We favor the establishment of a Mine Rescue Station in Indiana, near the center of the coal fields, for the purpose of protecting the lives and properties jeopardized by fires, explosions and other coal mine accidents.

We favor the celebration of the centennial of the admission of Indiana into the Union by the erection of a permanent memorial building especially devoted to the preservation of the history of the state; both the written history, as gathered in the State library, and the unwritten, as gathered in a museum where the relics and evidences of the achievements of the citizens of the State, in war and peace, shall be open to the free inspection of all the people.

For the purpose of better protecting the people's rights in municipalities, we favor legislation requiring full publicity of all proposed franchise ordinances before the same are enacted.

We further commend the administration of the several Democratic State Officers. They have rendered faithful and efficient service to the people and have performed every duty to them intrusted with fidelity and care.

We indorse the record of Governor Thomas R. Marshall, who has given the State the best administration it has known for years. Faithful to his oath of office, he has fully performed his duties without encroaching on the spheres of other departments or betraying the interests of the people for political purposes. Without attempting to dictate to the Legislature he has aided it in every beneficial step by his counsel and influence. Without attempting to dictate to the courts he has had brought before them all questions for which attention was important to the public welfare. We especially commend his steps inaugurating judicial action for the conservation of the public lands, and for re-claiming title for the State to the beds of streams officially declared navigable, which were not surveyed or sold by the United States, as a movement which makes possible the saving to the public resources of enormous value. In all his official life he has proven himself a man of the highest integrity, of sound judgment, and of unfaltering resolution in the performance of his duty. We commend him to the people of the United States as the type of man needed for the Presidency, and instruct our delegates to the Democratic National Convention to present his name to that body as the first and only choice of the Democracy of Indiana for the nomination for President.

Resolved, That the rooster shall be adopted as the emblem of the Democratic party in Indiana.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Adopted by the Indiana Republican State Convention, 1912.

We, the duly chosen delegates of the Republicans of Indiana, assembled in State Convention, pledge anew our fealty to the Republican party and our loyalty to the policies for which it stands in the Nation and State.

The Republican party, which has met every just expectation of the people for more than half a century, was never more worthy of their confidence than now. Its record is unsurpassed by any party in the history of the government, and is an assurance that if further intrusted with power it will serve well the people whose faithful servant it has always been. The Republican party is no experiment. Its platform is not a vote-catching prospectus. It is the utterance of sound theories of government in which the party firmly believes and which do not disappoint the people when put to the conclusive test of practical experience.

The people rule through the Republican party. Through it our political institutions have been strengthened; the bounds of freedom enlarged; industry and commerce promoted; the opportunity and wage of labor increased; and the activities of the people multiplied in every State of the Union.

It has always been a constructive party—building up Nation and State and promoting the welfare of the people without regard to section, nationality or color, by adhering to American policies and responding always to the best judgment of the people both in the enactment of laws and in the conduct of the public business.

We should always bear in mind the fact that wholesome advance in government is not accidental; that it is the fruit of wisdom, patience and sacrifice.

TAFT ADMINISTRATION.

The administration of William H. Taft receives our heartiest indorsement. It will stand in history as one of the most successful. Measured by what it has accomplished in the public interest there is none which surpasses it. It has introduced efficient methods and effected economies in the conduct of the public business. It has been a genuinely progressive administration. There has been no halt—no evasion of responsibility. The most powerful trusts and combinations have failed to find shelter in the White House, and the President's campaign fund will not be augmented by them.

He has secured legislation for the more complete regulation of railways, prevented arbitrary increase of freight rates; provided for the establishment of postal savings banks and their operations and practically assured the establishment of a parcels post. A bureau of mines has been created; further provisions have been made for preventing loss of life and injury and limiting hours of labor in many occupational employments. An equitable employers' liability law has been secured; the operations of bucket shops and stock gambling penalized, and justice in the form of a service pension law rendered to the venerable soldiers of the civil war. He has extended and made rational and legally effective plans for the conservation of our national resources and the preservation of the public domain. He has remodeled the Customs department, prosecuted violators and secured the refund of vast sums from those who have evaded customs officials. He has increased the public revenues through the provision of a corporation tax.

We heartily commend the President for the manner in which he has enforced the anti-trust laws. He has enforced them as every President should, without favoritism. Both great and small have been made to feel the heavy hand of the government whenever they have defied the laws of the people. He has prosecuted the colossal Standard Oil, Tobacco, Steel and Harvester trusts, as well as many others of but little less importance. Cases against the Steel and Harvester trusts are pending in the courts and the great battle is on between them and their selfish interests on the one side and the President and the people on the other. Their leading officers and beneficiaries, through the use of vast sums of money and great power, sought to defeat the President's renomination and are now openly engaged in an effort to accomplish his defeat at the polls. Their sinister influence has been, and is being, exerted, in Indiana. They have tried to wrest the control of the Republican party from the hands of our people and are now endeavoring through an organization and agency subservient to their will, to defeat the election of the nominees of the Republican party. We condemn these trusts and their officers and beneficiaries for such use and abuse of their power.

President Taft has cultivated good relations with other nations. He has done much to advance the cause of international arbitration, thereby increasing our national prestige throughout the world. He has prosecuted with ceaseless vigor the construction of the Panama Canal—an undertaking begun by his great predecessor, William McKinley. This great enterprise of such vital moment to America and to the commerce of the world is rapidly nearing completion, and when completed will stand to the credit of the Republican party and in no small degree to the credit of President Taft.

PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

We adhere to the unbroken usage of giving no more than two terms to any President—a usage which has come to have the force of a constitutional restriction. If good men may break down the traditional limitation established by our wisest and most patriotic Presidents who loved the Republic and republican institutions more than they loved power, bad men may do so and we shall repeat the unfortunate experience of Mexico and other countries under adroit, ambitious leadership. We favor an amendment to the Constitution limiting the President of the United States to one term of six years, so as to guard against one of the most dangerous tendencies of our time—the undue centralization of federal power. We should, so indisputable, remove the temptation to our chief executives to upset social perpetuate their power by nominating themselves or their successor

REPUBLICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

We believe in a republican form of government as it was created by our fathers and as it has been maintained and administered. We are opposed to any attempt to change its fundamental character. Our present form of government affords a remedy for every ill which the State may appropriately cure.

The proposed recall of either judges or their decisions tends to put in jeopardy the independence and effectiveness of our judiciary system and threatens one of the wisest safeguards of freedom and republican government. However, we favor the enactment of legislation providing for the speedy removal of any incompetent, inefficient or corrupt official from office.

THE TARIFF.

The Republican party has always stood for a high standard of wages and living among the wage workers of America. It has stood for policies which advance to the utmost degree the prosperity of the American farmer. It has stood for those policies which tended to the largest and most symmetrical development of the vast and varied interests of all the people. It has been the steadfast advocate of the American system of protection, the benefits of which are to be seen in our unexampled industrial and commercial development and the multiplied vocations of our people and in a standard of wages and living among those who toil which is unsurpassed in any other country of the world.

We approve of the effort of the President to maintain a tariff board to ascertain the cost of competitive commodities at home and abroad, to the end that the Congress may be able with ample and accurate information to revise tariff schedules from time to time so that they will be fair to American wage earners, producers and consumers. Whenever existing schedules are found to be excessive by such carefully ascertained facts they should be speedily reduced.

THE TRUST PROBLEM.

We believe in the vigorous enforcement of the anti-trust law against all who violate its provisions; and we believe in amending the law wherein it may be necessary to make it the more definite so that all wilful violators of the law may the more readily and surely be punished, and all honest men who wish to observe the law may not, because of ambiguity, be in danger of inadvertently violating it.

CHICAGO PLATFORM.

We heartily indorse the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention at Chicago.

DEMOCRATIC EXTRAVAGANCE.

Influenced on a platform pledging reduction of State expenditures and the surety of all "useless bureaus and offices," there has been an enormous increase in State expenditures under the present Democratic State administration with such inadequate legal provision for their payment that the State of Indiana again confronts the possibility of an increase in her bonded debt, which during a fourteen years' period of Republican control of the State's fiscal and legislative affairs was reduced from more than seven million dollars almost to the point of extinction. We demand that the State's financial affairs be placed upon a sound and stable basis and that State expenditures be limited to the real necessities of efficient and economical administration.

CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT.

We favor the extension of the provisions of the corrupt practices act to all elections both special and general, and the application of its publicity provisions and penalties to the campaign expenditures of organizations and individuals as well as of political committees.

REGISTRATION LAW.

The registration law enacted by the last Legislature is unduly cumbersome, inadequate and expensive. We favor a revision of the law restricting its provisions to those communities in which its operations are essential to the proper protection of the ballot.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

We pledge the Republican party to the non-partisan management of the State's penal, benevolent and charitable institutions as exemplified under the administrations of Governors Mount, Durbin and Hanly.

We favor the establishment of district workhouses for misdemeanors.

PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the enactment of a law providing for the regulation of rates and service of all public service corporations similar to that now exercised over railroads and other common carriers. The same reasons exist for controlling the rates and service of water, electric light, gas, telephone, telegraph and street railway companies and other public service corporations as for controlling transportation rates and service. Legislation should be enacted giving to an appropriate commission power to fix rates and service for all public service corporations and to prevent the watering of stock of such corporations by supervising power over all issues of stocks and bonds.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

"Knowledge and learning generally diffused throughout a community being essential to the preservation of a free government," we hold it to be the duty of the State to promise by every possible means such an educational system as will truly give to all men, whether they go into the workshop or on the farm or into the professions, such an education or training as will fit them to be efficient citizens. We favor the extension of industrial and agricultural education as the wisest solution of our gravest social and economic problems.

LABOR LEGISLATION.

The Republican party has always been a staunch friend of organized labor and the wage earner, and points with pride to laws enacted by it seeking to benefit those who toil, and now pledges itself to the enactment of such additional legislation as changes in conditions have made advisable, keeping in mind the mutual interests of the employer and employed.

LABOR COMMISSIONER.

We deplore the abolition of the State Labor Commission. We favor the appointment of a labor commissioner in conjunction with the Department of Inspection, in order that labor may have proper representation in the amicable adjustment of industrial disputes.

INSPECTION DEPARTMENT.

We demand the appointment as chief of the Inspection Department one who has practical experience which qualifies him for the technical duties of this important office.

We insist that this department shall be kept free from partisan political influence to the end that it may properly perform its duty to the wage earners of the State.

CHILD LABOR.

The Republican party pledges its opposition to child labor and renews its determination to eradicate the evil from the State.

BETTER SANITATION.

We advocate the enactment of such laws as will bring about more thorough sanitary conditions in workshop and tenement in order that the spread of disease emanating from unhealthful environment may be eradicated as completely as possible.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

The Republican party recognizes the fact that the subject of workmen's compensation is complex and that intelligent and painstaking investigation will be necessary in order to reach a just solution. We recognize the justice in the demands of the toiler that he be compensated when permanently injured, and we likewise take into consideration the vast amount spent annually by employers in defending damage suits instituted by injured employes, and we favor the enactment of a just workmen's compensation act.

PURE FOOD.

The pure food law has been of inestimable benefit to the people of Indiana. We approve its wise enforcement in the past and demand that the law be strengthened until adulteration is eliminated and sanitary conditions are universal.

COURT PROCEDURE.

We favor the simplification and expedition of methods of legal procedure.

COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

This convention approves and indorses the enactment of laws providing for the commission form of government for the municipalities of our State, that such plan as provided by the Legislature, to be optional in its adoption by the municipality and of such elasticity in the powers of the municipalities adopting the same as will provide the greatest measure of self-government consistent with local demands and conditions and at the same time consistent with the principles of our government.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

We approve an amendment to the State Constitution providing for the enfranchisement of women.

GOOD ROADS.

No one thing contributes more to the material welfare of the people than good roads. We favor State supervision and State aid and the scientific construction and systematic maintenance of the main market roads with a graduated automobile tax to be devoted to road maintenance.

CONSERVATION.

We favor the conservation of our national resources both national and State. The natural inheritance of the people should neither be allowed to be squandered by selfish interests nor dissipated by ignorance. We favor legislation to promote in a comprehensive and scientific way forestry in Indiana.

CENTENNIAL BUILDING.

We favor the celebration of the centennial of the admission of Indiana to the Union by the erection of a memorial building in keeping with the dignity and progress of the State and to accommodate the State library, the museum, historical, geological and biological material, with rooms for the use of historical and like organizations, and space for the preservation and display of historical relics and documents.

PENSIONS.

The Republican party is now, as it has always been, in favor of the most generous provision for the soldiers of the Republic, their widows and orphans.

CORPORATIONS CONTRIBUTIONS.

We commend the course pursued by the Republican State Committee in refusing to accept campaign contributions from corporations before there was any statute upon the subject, and for refusing to accept like contributions from officers and beneficiaries of corporations who may be interested in governmental laws.

LOCAL OPTION.

For more than a generation the Republican party of Indiana has responded to the advancing public sentiment with respect to the saloon question. It has always recognized it as a moral question which touches the home in a very vital way. A Republican Legislature, responding to what it rightly believed was the popular wish and the platform and pledge of a Republican convention, enacted a county local option law. The people promptly availed themselves of its provisions and sixty-nine counties voted against the saloons. A Democratic Legislature, responding to powerful brewery influences and betraying the great majority of the people, repealed the law and saloons were forced back in fifty-three counties from which they had been excluded under the Republican law.

DEMAND RE-ENACTMENT.

We demand the re-enactment of the County Local Option law and insist that every Republican candidate for a seat in that body shall stand pledged to carry out the will of this convention.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

We condemn the effort of the present State administration, pronounced illegal by the courts, to revise the State Constitution by a method which denied to the people the right to exercise the powers guaranteed to them by the Constitution to control completely the work of rewriting the State Constitution when undertaken. We favor a revision of the Constitution by a constitutional convention, consisting of representatives elected by the people and the submission to the people for ratification or rejection of the changes in the State's organic law proposed by this Constitution.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

This convention indorses the enactment of a law providing for the primary election of all delegates to the congressional, State and national conventions, the same to be safeguarded by the Australian ballot system and a corrupt practices act.

CONCLUSION.

Not in recent years have more vital questions been presented for the consideration of the people. They have an important bearing upon wage earners, farmers and manufacturers, in fact upon every member of the community; for they involve the character of our political institutions, our industrial and commercial activities and our homes. We confidently invoke the critical judgment of the people of Indiana upon the record of the Republican party and upon this declaration of its principles.

EMBLEM.

Resolved, That we adopt the eagle as the emblem of the Republican party.

PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM

Adopted by the Progressive State Convention, 1912.

The Progressive party of Indiana believes that the people should rule and that their demands should be respected and complied with; that denial of just demands is a denial of free government; that the Republican and Democratic party organizations have become fossilized into rigid machines controlled by political adventurers acting for special interests and controlling all of the machinery of government to the extent that the people no longer have any voice therein and their just demands are disregarded.

To the end, therefore, that the people may have freer and better government, that they may possess the power to control party organization, that they may enforce their will through their representatives, secure justice and the enjoyment of political and industrial equality, we present the following demands, to the accomplishment of which we promise unflinching and tireless effort:

1. The initiative, whereby a certain reasonable percentage of the voters of the State may petition for the submission of a proposed law directly to the people for their approval or rejection. The same principle should be made applicable to smaller districts.

2. The referendum, whereby a stated percentage of the voters may secure the submission of laws passed by the law-making bodies to the whole body of voters for acceptance or rejection.

3. The recall, applied to all elective, executive, administrative and legislative officers.

4. Direct primaries for the nomination of all elective officers and of all officials of party organizations to be held by all parties on the same day, which day shall be a registration day, these primaries to be governed by the corrupt practices act.

5. The adoption of the proposed amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and in the meantime the adoption of a law similar to the Oregon law, by which the legislators elected by all parties shall be bound by a direct preferential vote for senator.

6. A preferential vote for candidates for President and Vice-President.

7. The adoption of a more effective and economical registration act and a corrupt practices act which shall apply to all elections and primaries, including the election of officials of party organizations and of delegates to all conventions.

8. Equal suffrage for women on all questions.

9. A minimum wage for women wage earners.

10. Efficient child labor laws, national and State, and the rigid enforcement thereof.

11. A decided change in State education which shall prepare youth to engage in life work through trade schools and widespread industrial and agricultural education; free school books for children in common schools.

12. A public utilities commission, with power to regulate rates, service, capitalization and issuance of securities of public service corporations and to make physical valuation of the property of such corporations, and compel the production of books and records.

13. An act prohibiting corporations from the issuance or sale of watered stock.

14. A workman's compensation act for industrial accidents under which establishment losses shall be settled upon a scale fixed by statute, the worker to have his alternative to pursue his remedy in court.

15. Home rule for cities, with power to adopt their own charters. Until this can be accomplished by constitutional changes we favor the passage of an act granting to cities and towns the option of adopting commission government in lieu of remaining under the present cities and towns act.

16. The application of the competitive merit system to the civil service of the State and of the cities and counties thereof, and the adoption of the federal registration rules for the labor service.

17. A reform in court procedure whereby technicalities in pleadings, in trials and on appeals shall be eliminated, so that justice shall not be delayed or denied.

18. The creation of a State conservation commission embracing the work of the State geologist, the State entomologist, the bureau of statistics and the State board of forestry.

19. The erection of a State library and archive memorial building in celebration of the centennial of the State in 1916, the State having now no adequate place for its priceless historical documents and library.

20. A national income tax, and a State inheritance tax; and in connection with these an expert investigation, followed by a complete reformation of the tax laws of the State whereby such outrages as are now committed in working out the corporation highway tax shall be rendered impossible; and whereby small properties shall cease to bear more than their proportion of taxes; and whereby as new taxes are added present direct taxes shall be diminished.

21. A revision of the road laws, along the line of State aid and State control of main roads.

22. Liberal pensions to soldiers.

23. Federal regulation of corporations doing an interstate business, under the supervision of an industrial commission with power similar to those of the interstate commerce commission.

24. We hold that the liquor traffic is a moral question and that its solution rests wholly in the moral and religious attitude of the people themselves; that the moral and religious attitude of the people of Indiana can and will be honestly expressed on the liquor question only when it is wholly divorced from politics. As a permanent solution we agree to enact the initiative and referendum, through which method a vote of the whole people honestly expressed, without bias or prejudice of party politics, may be had. In the meantime we favor county local option as a temporary relief.

25. We favor a tariff measured by the difference between the cost of production here and abroad. This is fair to American manufacturers; less than this is unjust to American laborers; more is unjust to American consumers. We demand the immediate creation of a genuine permanent non-partisan tariff commission, with ample power and definite duties fixed in the law itself; meantime we demand the immediate revision of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law along the lines of honest protection.

26. We favor the calling of a constitutional convention by the next Legislature, the delegates thereto to be chosen by direct vote of the people on a non-partisan ballot.

The platform was submitted by the following resolutions committee:

Samuel Crumpacker, Evansville; J. W. Williford, Washington; John Overmyer, North Vernon; E. G. Eggleston, Newport; Rudolph G. Leeds, Richmond; Willitts A. Bastian, Indianapolis; the Rev. George W. Schroeder, Winchester; Fay Cullen, Kokomo; A. F. Knotts, Gary; William M. Hasty, Marion; Carl Newman, Lagrange; Miller Guy, South Bend.

PROHIBITION PLATFORM

Adopted by the Prohibition State Convention, 1912.

The Prohibition party of Indiana, in convention assembled at Indianapolis, this 29th day of May, 1912, expressing gratitude to God for guidance in the past, recognizing Him as the author of all just government and seeking His direction in the campaign before us, makes the following declaration of principles:

The beverage liquor traffic being destructive to the health, wealth, morals, peace and happiness of the people, is illegal under common law. We therefore declare for the prohibition of the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. We propose to give the liquor traffic no respite in this warfare, no quarter in this contest, no option but surrender, and no choice but to die.

The organized liquor traffic is such a foe to the common welfare that it justifies and demands a party in power committed to its overthrow.

We declare the national government should prohibit all interstate commerce in intoxicating beverages; and forbid the use of the mails to aid such traffic, as is now done regarding lotteries and other evils.

We favor the enactment and enforcement of laws that will effectually suppress the social evil, prevent its official toleration and abolish the "white slave traffic."

We favor the prohibition of child labor in any place under any conditions detrimental to health and education.

We are opposed to withholding the ballot from any part of our citizenship on the account of sex.

We favor equal opportunities for capital and labor and declare for the enactment of such laws as will secure the nearest possible approach to this equality.

We favor the settlement of all differences between capital and labor by arbitration.

We favor the most scientific preservation of the forests, mineral and other natural resources of the country, and especially the improvement of men and women as the highest national conservation.

We favor the initiative and referendum in legislation.

An equitable, graduated income and inheritance tax.

Ample security for depositors in all banking institutions.

The election of the President and Vice-President and United States senators by direct vote of the people.

We favor the parcels post.

A five years' residence in the United States before persons of foreign birth are given right to vote.

A just reduction of all excessive salaries of State and county officials, with all fees and perquisites turned into the public treasury.

An adequate statute for the impeachment of all officials who refuse or neglect to enforce the law.

Uniform marriage and divorce laws in all states and national legislation which will forever destroy the crime of polygamy.

We favor a registration law which can be more economically administered than the present one.

We declare that our war veterans are entitled to the comforts of their own homes, and we favor an adequate pension without regard to age or disability.

Believing in the righteousness of these principles, and that their enactment into law is vital to the peace and prosperity of the people, and to the perpetuity of our government, we call upon the patriotic citizens of Indiana to elect to power the Prohibition party, that we may usher in the glad day when Old Glory shall no longer float in protection over the saloon, the brewery and distillery, or any other legalized injustice or iniquity.

SOCIALIST PLATFORM, 1912

STATE PLATFORM.

The Socialist party of Indiana, in convention assembled, hereby declares its allegiance to the principles of international Socialism, which advocates the collective ownership and management of the means of production and distribution, such as land, factories, machinery, railroads, mines, etc., to be operated for the benefit of all.

We regard collective ownership and control as a necessary step in the evolution of industrial society, and pledge ourselves to do all in our power to bring it about peacefully by educational propaganda, and by economic and political organization. As means calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalistic oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program :

1. The shortening of the work day.
2. Abolition of child labor.
3. Insurance of the workers against accident, sickness and old age, and public relief of the unemployed.
4. Equal suffrage, without regard to sex, race or property qualifications.
5. Direct legislation by means of the initiative, referendum and recall.
6. Free text books in the public schools.
7. Home rule for cities.
8. Abolition of the poll tax.
9. The passage of an exemption law which shall free from taxation the personal effects of the workers.
10. The abolition of the United States Supreme Court.
11. The abolition of the Senate.
12. Election of state and federal judges by the people for a short term only, subject to the recall.

19. Motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the Senate.

20. Any Senator may call for the division of a question where the sense will admit of it.

21. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

22. When a motion has been once made and decided, it shall be in order for any Senator of the prevailing side to move a reconsideration thereof, on any day during the session; but such motion to reconsider shall be entertained but once during the session, and when made upon a subsequent day shall lie over one day before being acted upon.

23. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the Senate may be presented by the President or by any Senator. The same after presentation shall be referred by the President to some appropriate committee.

24. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the previous question is pending, and shall be decided without debate. The question pending on adjournment shall be resumed on reassembling, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

25. It shall be in order for the Committees on Phraseology of Bills and Enrolled Bills to report at any time when no question is before the Senate.

26. No Senator shall introduce a bill unless he shall have previously sent to the President of the Senate a card stating the nature of the proposed bill and the subject to which it relates.

27. The first reading of a bill shall be for information, and if objection be made to it, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be received?" If no objection be made, or the objection be not sustained, the bill shall then, if no motion be made to the contrary, be committed to a regular or select committee, or to a Committee of the Whole Senate. If the bill be referred to a Committee of the Whole Senate, the Senate shall determine on what day it shall be considered.

28. The committee to which a bill shall have been referred may report thereon with or without amendments, or may report a substitute therefor. If no minority report be made, the question shall be upon concurring in the report of the committee without any motion therefor. If a minority report be made, the question shall be upon concurring in the minority report, and if not concurred in, the question shall then recur upon the majority report. If the action of the Senate be in favor of the passage of the bill, it shall then be printed in accordance with the provisions of Rule 44, unless otherwise ordered as provided by said rule.

29. Reports of committees on bills which have been referred to them shall give the number of the bill, a part or all of its title, and the name of its author.

30. After commitment and report thereon to the Senate, or at any time before its passage, a bill may be recommitted.

31. No motion shall be received to amend a bill on its third reading.

32. When a bill has passed, it shall be certified by the Secretary, noting at the foot thereof the day of its passage.

33. In forming a Committee of the Whole Senate, the committee shall select a Chairman to preside.

34. Upon bills committed to a Committee of the Whole Senate, the bill shall first be read throughout by the Secretary, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the title to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Secretary on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee; and so reported to the Senate; after report, the bill shall again be subject to debate and amendment before a vote to engross it be taken.

35. All questions, whether in committee or in the Senate, shall be put in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

36. The rules of procedure in the Senate shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole Senate, so far as they may be applicable, and no Senator shall speak twice to any question until each Senator, choosing to speak, shall have spoken.

37. Each officer of the Senate shall take an oath for the true and faithful discharge of the duties of his office, and shall be deemed to continue in office until his successor is chosen.

38. It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to attend the Senate during its sittings, execute all commands and process to him given and directed, keep the Senate Chamber and furniture clean and in due order, and at all times keep the Chamber properly heated and ventilated; when requested to call a Senator he shall do so by name, and shall exclude from within the bar of the Senate Chamber all persons except the President and officers and employes of the Senate, Senators, members of the House, and representatives of the press assigned to places on the floor of the Senate, and shall exclude from the Senate all persons except the President of the Senate, Senators, or persons admitted by them. Such persons shall be admitted only upon presentation to the Doorkeeper of a written pass signed by the President of the Senate, or a Senator, and such pass shall be non-transferable, and shall be taken up at the door by the Doorkeeper.

39. When any matter is referred to a standing committee, the Senator introducing the same shall be a member of such committee during its deliberations thereon, but shall have no power to vote.

40. The order of transacting business shall be as follows, viz.:

1. Reading and correcting the Journal of the preceding day.
2. Report of Committee on Elections.
3. Reports of other standing committees.
4. Introduction of petitions, memorials and remonstrances.
5. Reports of select committees.
6. Resolutions of the Senate.
7. Joint resolutions.
8. Joint resolutions of the House.
9. Introduction of Bills.
10. Messages from the House.
11. Senate bills on second reading.
12. Senate bills on third reading.
13. House bills on first reading.
14. House bills on second reading.
15. House bills on third reading.

This order of business may be suspended upon a majority vote of the Senators-elect.

If the above order of business be suspended by reasons of adjournment or otherwise, upon re-assembling or upon completion of the business which brought about each suspension, the regular order of business shall be resumed at the place where the same was suspended.

41. The title to a bill shall not be adopted until after the bill has passed.

42. When a bill or joint resolution shall have failed for want of a constitutional majority, but shall have received the vote of a majority of the Senators present, it may be called up in its order by any Senator, on any subsequent day, but when it shall have failed to receive the votes of a majority of the Senators present, it shall again be called up only by a motion to reconsider.

43. The reports of conference committees for the adjustment of differences between the Senate and House shall be laid over one day before action thereon, unless a majority of the Senators present shall otherwise order.

44. Whenever a bill is reported by a committee, with the recommendation that it pass, two hundred copies of said bill shall be forthwith printed and one copy laid on the desk of each Senator, and no bill shall be read a second time until one day after such distribution, unless the Senate otherwise orders. Whenever any committee reports in favor of the passage of a bill with amendments, said bill shall be printed, showing the parts stricken out of said bill, if any, in canceled type, and additions made thereto, if any, in italic type. The Secretary of the Senate shall cause to be stamped upon each copy of a bill, which shall be laid upon the desk of a Senator, the day of such distribution. If the committee to which a bill has been referred shall report that such bill is not of sufficient public importance to justify printing it, such bill shall not be printed, unless so ordered by a majority vote of the members elect of the Senate.

45. When the introduction of bills is in order, the list of Senators shall be called alphabetically, and each Senator shall be permitted to introduce only two bills each time his name is so called, and the name of no Senator shall be called a second time until the entire list has been called, and on the call of bills on the second and third reading, the names of Senators shall be called alphabetically, and the name of no Senator shall be called a second time until the entire list has been called.

46. All proposed amendments to the rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate, and said committee shall have the right to report at any time, and may at any time report any change in the rules, or in the order of business, and any such report shall be immediately disposed of, and such change in the rules, or in the order of business, shall be determined by a majority of the Senators elect.

47. The Journal of the Senate shall be kept in due form by the Assistant Secretary of the Senate, and his signature shall attest the same.

48. Any bill or resolution not indorsed on the back thereof with the name of the Senator offering the same shall be regarded as out of order.

49. It shall be the duty of the Principal Secretary to indorse, over his signature, the number, in its order, of each bill and resolution, and the date when offered; and it shall be the further duty of the Secretary to keep all bills and resolutions on file in regular order.

50. An Assistant Doorkeeper shall be stationed at the door of the enrolling and engrossing room, and no person whatsoever, except the President of the Senate and Senators, and the clerks there employed, shall be allowed to enter such room at any time; and no one, except the Secretary of the Senate, or the chief of the clerks employed in such room, shall take from the room any enrolled or engrossed bill, or any other bill, amendment, memorandum or paper.

51. Decorum and debate.

First.—When any Senator desires to speak or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the President, and, on being recognized, may address the Senate from any place on the floor, or from the Secretary's desk, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, avoiding personality. No Senator shall impeach the motives of any other Senator.

Second.—When two or more Senators rise at once, the President shall name the Senator who is to speak first, and no Senator shall occupy more than one-half hour in debate on any question in Senate or in committee, except as further provided in this rule. The Senate at any time, by resolution adopted by a majority of the Senators elect, may further limit the time of debate.

Third.—The Senator reporting from a committee a measure under consideration may open and close, where general debate is had thereon.

Fourth.—If any Senator in speaking, or otherwise, transgress the rules of the Senate, the President shall, or any Senator may, call him to order, in which case he shall immediately be seated, unless permitted, on motion of another Senator, to explain; and the Senate shall, if appealed to, decide on the case without debate. If the decision be in favor of the Senator called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise; and, if the case requires it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the Senate may deem proper.

Fifth.—If a Senator be called to order for words spoken in debate, the Senator calling him to order shall indicate the words objected to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Secretary's desk and read aloud to the Senate at the time, but he shall not be held to answer nor be subject to the censure of the Senate therefor if further debate or other business has intervened.

Sixth.—No Senator shall speak more than once to the same question without leave of the Senate, unless he be the mover, proposer or introducer of the matter pending, in which case he shall be permitted to speak in reply, but not until every Senator choosing to speak shall have spoken.

Seventh.—While the President is putting a question or addressing the Senate, no Senator shall walk out of or across the Chamber, nor, when a Senator is speaking, pass between him and the chair; and during the session of the Senate, no Senator shall remain by the Secretary's desk during the call of the roll, and no person shall smoke within the Chamber, and the Doorkeeper is charged with the strict enforcement of this clause.

52. Jefferson's Manual shall apply to all points not covered by these rules.

53. Unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the members elect of the Senate, all committees and vacancies in committees shall be filled by the President of the Senate. All bills and resolutions shall be referred by the President of the Senate to appropriate committees, unless the Senate by motion, adopted by at least a majority vote of the members elect of the Senate, shall designate a particular committee to which such bill or resolution be referred, in which event such bill or resolution shall be referred to the committee so designated by the Senate.

54. Unless made a special order, or unless the constitutional rules are suspended, no bill shall be called for third reading unless the Senators intending to call such bill shall give at least one day's notice that such bill will be called for third reading. The Secretary of the Senate shall procure a bulletin board, upon which such notices shall be posted, and at the request of any Senator he shall post thereon the notice required by this rule. Such notice shall give the date and time of the notice, the number of the bill, the name of the Senator who will call the bill. When notice has been thus given, the Senator giving such notice may call such bill, when his name is next called for bills on third reading, but no such bill shall be called unless notice was given before 3 o'clock p. m. of the day previous to the calling of such bill. When any bill has been ordered printed, no notice of the calling of such bill for third reading shall be posted unless the printed copies of said bill have been distributed as provided by rule, but no special order shall be fixed for the same day on which such special order is made. This rule may be suspended at any time by a majority vote of the members elect of the Senate.

55. The President of the Senate shall appoint a committee of three, which committee, with the President of the Senate, shall supervise the purchase of all supplies for the Senate. Said committee shall have full charge of the purchase of all supplies, the employment of assistants to the officers of the Senate, and the incurring of indebtedness by and for the Senate. No warrant shall be drawn for any indebtedness not authorized by such committee, unless the same is ordered by resolution, adopted by a majority vote of the members elect of the Senate. Unless otherwise provided by statute no person shall be employed in the Senate without the written consent of said committee being first filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

56. After a committee has had a bill under consideration for six days (Sundays and the day of its introduction not included), the author of such bill or any member of the Senate shall have the right to call the attention of the Senate to such fact, and unless a majority of the Senate shall grant such committee an extension of time or otherwise order, such bill on the next legislative day, be returned to the Senate by such committee, either with or without recommendation, and when so returned shall be before the Senate for consideration the same as if such bill had been reported upon by such committee under Rule 28. If such bill is returned without recommendation, then it shall take the same course as if such bill had been favorably reported upon: Provided, That nothing in this rule shall prevent the majority of the Senate from calling said bill from said committee at any time.

STANDING RULES AND ORDERS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE HOUSE

CHAPTER I.

TOUCHING THE DUTY OF SPEAKER.

1. The Speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the members to order; and shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read, unless by a vote of the House the reading of the same be dispensed with.

2. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have general direction of the hall. He may name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond one day. He shall have the right to name any member to bear messages to the Senate, and to appoint all committees, unless otherwise specially directed by the House, in which case they shall be appointed by vote.

3. The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum. He may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members, which appeal shall be in writing and signed by the members taking such appeal, and shall clearly state the point of order decided by the Chair, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House: Provided, That no appeal from the decision of the chair shall prevail except by a majority of all members elected to the House.

4. The Speaker may state a question sitting, but shall rise to put a question to the vote of the House.

5. Questions shall be substantially put in this form, namely: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be), say aye," and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion say no." If the Speaker doubts, or a division be called for, the House shall divide, those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats and remain standing until they are counted, and afterwards those in the negative in like manner. If the Speaker still doubts, or a count be required, the Speaker shall name two members, one from each side, to tell those in the affirmative and negative, and the results being reported, he shall rise and report the decision of the House.

6. The Speaker shall vote in all elections; when the yeas and nays are taken, his name being called last; and upon all other questions, when the House is equally divided, he shall give the casting vote, or when his vote would make an equal division he shall vote upon the call of any member; and in all cases of equal division the question shall be lost.

7. He shall sign all acts, addresses, joint resolutions, writs, warrants and subpoenas of, or issued by order of the House, and decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by any two members, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by permission of the House.

8. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

9. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member requests it.

10. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or, being in writing, read aloud by the Clerk, and seconded before it shall be debated; after which it shall be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

CHAPTER II.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF MEMBERS.

11. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

12. Seven members, with the Speaker, or eight members in his absence, one of whom they shall elect Speaker pro tem., may then call the House to order, compel the attendance of absent members, make an order for their fine and censure, and adjourn from day to day until a quorum shall be in attendance.

13. When any member desires to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address "Mr. Speaker," but shall not proceed until recognized by the Speaker, and shall confine himself to the question under consideration, and avoid personality, nor shall he impeach the motive of any member's vote or argument.

14. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker, or any other member, may call him to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case in accordance with the proviso in Rule 3, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise he shall not be permitted to proceed, in case any member objects, without leave of the House; and, if the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

15. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House, for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

16. While the Speaker is putting any question or addressing the House, no member shall walk out of or across the House; nor, in such case, or when a member is speaking or delivering any matter to the House, shall pass between him and the chair. Every member shall remain uncovered during the session of the House. No member or other person shall visit or remain by the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called.

17. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reasons, shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced; and no call of the yeas and nays shall be entertained on a motion to excuse a member from voting. But any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question then be taken without further debate; and the refusal of a member to vote who is present and has not been excused from voting will be a high breach of decorum, and will subject the person so offending to a fine, censure and such other punishment as the House may order and impose.

18. No member shall vote on any question in the result of which he is immediately and particularly interested, or in any case when he was not within the bar of the House pending roll-call, unless by consent of the House; and in no case shall such absent member be allowed to vote after the result has been announced, when his vote shall change the decision of the question. For the purpose of determining whether a quorum is present, all members within the House when the question is stated by the Speaker, and the vote is on a call of the yeas and nays, shall be counted, and such of them as fail to respond to their names, when called, shall be noted by the Clerk as present and not voting. The hall of the House shall be deemed and held to include the entire chamber in which this body holds its sessions, and the bar of the House, all of the space within the railing on the south side of the chamber and within the line of pillars on the west side.

19. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

20. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without the leave of the House, nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken. And if a question be undisposed of by adjournment of the House, when resumed on the succeeding day, no member who shall have spoken twice on the preceding day shall be permitted again to speak without leave of the House.

21. The member who introduces a bill or joint resolution shall have a right to fifteen minutes of time to close the debate upon it, when it shall have reached its third reading. The right secured by this rule shall not be impaired, even after a demand for the previous question, but shall at all times remain in full force.

22. Members having petitions and memorials to present may hand them to the Speaker, indorsing the same with their names, and the reference or disposition to be made thereof, and such petitions or memorials shall be entered on the Journal and shall be referred by the Speaker to the appropriate committees. And if any petition or memorial shall be so handed in, which, in the judgment of the Speaker, is not respectful and temperate, and free from offensive imputations upon the character or conduct of the Assembly, or other constituted authority, it shall be returned to the member from whom it was received. Any member having any petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill or other matter of which he was the mover or introducer, shall have a right to meet with and act as a member of the committee during the time said committee may have such subject under consideration, except that he shall not have a right to vote in said committee unless he be a regular member thereof.

23. During the reading of the Journal of the House no member, officer or employe of the House, whose station is within the bar of the House, shall leave his station or seat unless he shall have the consent of the House therefor.

CHAPTER III.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

24. As soon as the Journal is read, and the unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment has been disposed of, reports from committees shall be called for and disposed of, in doing which the Speaker shall call upon each standing committee in regular order, and then upon select committees; this order of business to continue for one hour, to be called the morning hour, if reports of committees under this order shall consume the hour. And if the Speaker shall not get through the call upon the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off, giving preference to the report last under consideration: Provided, That whenever any committee shall have occupied the morning hour on two successive days it shall not be in order for such committee to report further until the other committees shall have been called in their turn.

25. Reports from committees having been presented and disposed of, the Speaker shall call for resolutions and bills from members by counties, arranged alphabetically, and if on any day all the counties shall not be called, the Speaker shall begin the next day where he left off the previous day: Provided, That no member shall present more than two bills or resolutions under the call each day.

26. After two hours shall have been devoted to reports from committees, resolutions and bills, it shall be in order, pending the consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion that the House do now proceed to dispose of the business on the Speaker's table, and to the order of the day, which, being decided in the affirmative, the Speaker shall dispose of the business on his table in the following order:

First.—Executive and other communications.

Second.—Messages from the Senate and amendments proposed by the Senate to bills of the House.

Third.—Bills and resolutions from the Senate on their first reading, that they may be referred to committees and put under way; but on being read a second time, they are to be ordered to their third reading, unless objection be made, in which case, if not otherwise ordered by a majority of the House, they are laid on the table in the general file of bills on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in their turns.

Fourth.—Engrossed House bills and bills from the Senate on their third reading.

Fifth.—Bills of the House on their engrossment and from the Senate on the Speaker's table, on being ordered to a third reading, to be taken up and considered in the order of time in which they passed to a second reading.

Sixth.—The Speaker may order bills read a second time to the exclusion of other business (except special orders) on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Seventh.—The messages, communications and bills on his table having been disposed of, the Speaker shall then proceed to call the order of the day.

27. The consideration of the unfinished business in which the House may be engaged at an adjournment, shall have preference in the order of the day, and no motion on any other business after the reading of the Journal shall be received without special leave of the House, until the former is disposed of.

CHAPTER IV.

The Committee on Ways and Means shall be allowed to report at any time.

A committee to which a bill shall have been referred may report thereon with or without amendments, and the bill when returned, together with the report, shall go to the Speaker's table for its second reading, and, upon that order of business being reached, it shall be taken up in the order in which it was reported, read a second time, together with the report of the committee; if any amendment is reported, the first question shall be on the adoption of the amendment as reported by the committee; the Speaker shall then state that the bill is ready for amendment, recommitment or engrossment.

44. General appropriation bills shall be in order in preference to any other bills, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House. The House, at any time, by a majority vote, may make any appropriation bill a special order.

45. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be equivalent to its rejection. Whenever a bill is reported from the Committee of the Whole with a recommendation to strike out the enacting clause, and such recommendation is disagreed to by the House, the bill shall stand recommitted to the said committee without further action of the House.

46. If any bill or other proposition be referred to a committee and any member of such committee make a minority report, such report shall be regarded as an amendment to the report of the committee.

47. All bills and joint resolutions ordered to be engrossed shall be executed in a fair, round hand.

48. After commitment and report to the House, a bill may be recommitted to the same or any other committee, either with or without instruction. But after a bill or joint resolution has been engrossed and ordered to a third reading, it shall not be amended except by unanimous consent, but may be recommitted, with special instructions, by a two-thirds vote; and, in case any bill or joint resolution is amended after engrossment, the question shall again be put on the engrossment of the bill or joint resolution.

49. When a bill or joint resolution shall be put on its passage, and shall receive a majority of the votes cast, but not the number of votes required by the Constitution, the same shall not be considered lost; but, when the third reading of the bills and joint resolutions is in order any member who voted with the majority, or who did not vote at all, may call the same up, and the House shall take another vote thereon, and any number of votes may be taken in such cases by the House, but there shall be no debate thereon.

50. No bill or joint resolution shall, at any time, be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

CHAPTER VII.

YEAS AND NAYS.

51. When the yeas and nays are taken upon any question, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically. After the call of the roll has been ordered, no motion shall be made in reference thereto, or debate had thereon. Nor shall any motion to adjourn, postpone or otherwise change the question on which the yeas and nays are being taken, be in order until the call thereof is completed, and the result announced by the Speaker.

52. When any vote is taken by the yeas and nays the question shall be stated substantially in the following manner, namely: "As many as are of the opinion that, etc., will, when their names are called, answer 'aye,' and as many as are of a different opinion, will, when their names are called, answer 'no.'" And when the vote is taken upon the passage of any bill or joint resolution, and when the same may be demanded by two members of the House, the Clerk shall, after the roll has been gone through, first read over the names of those who have answered in the affirmative, and then the names of those who have answered in the negative, in order that, if he has made any mistakes in noting the answer, or if any member has made a mistake in his answer, the mistake of either may be corrected.

53. Upon the call of the House, the names of the members shall be called by the Clerk and absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall again be called; the doors shall then be shut, and those from whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses, are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever found by the Doorkeeper, or other officer or messenger appointed for that purpose.

54. When a member shall be discharged from custody and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without paying fines, and in like manner whether a delinquent member, taken into custody by a special messenger, shall or shall not be liable to defray the expenses of such special messenger.

CHAPTER VIII.

ON THE DIGNITY AND PRIVILEGE OF QUESTIONS.

55. No motion or proposition on a subject not germane to that under consideration shall be admitted under color of an amendment.

56. A motion to adjourn, and a motion to lie on the table, shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate. A motion to fix a time to which the House shall adjourn is always in order, and is undebatable, if made while another question is pending; but, if made when no other question is pending, it is debatable.

A motion to adjourn shall not be put while the question is pending on seconding the demand for the previous question.

When less than a quorum is present no motion shall be entertained, except to adjourn, or for a call of the House.

A motion for adjournment, or for the order of the day, can not be made by one member while another is speaking.

A motion which has been decided out of order can not be renewed.

Motions to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, may be amended, and shall have precedence in the order named.

57. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lie on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain, to postpone indefinitely, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, at the same stage of the bill or other proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill or joint resolution shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

58. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees are named, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. To the Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing committee.
3. A select committee.

And if the motion of reference is to different standing committees, the question shall be taken in the order in which the committees are named.

59. Any member may call for the division of a question before or after the main question is ordered, which shall be divided, if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

60. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made, and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. On the previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate. And after a demand for the previous question has been seconded by the House, no motion shall be entertained to excuse a member from voting. The ordering of the previous question shall not prevent a member from explaining his vote, but no member, under this rule, shall be permitted more than one minute for that purpose.

61. When a motion has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative it shall be in order for any member having voted with the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or the succeeding day, and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn, and shall not be withdrawn after the said succeeding day without the consent of the House, and thereafter any member may call it up for consideration.

62. Any member may change his vote before the result is announced; and afterwards, by leave of the House, provided such change will not affect the result.

63. When a paper is first presented to the House it shall be a matter of right in any member to have it read before the House shall vote upon it. If the paper has been once read, or the reading dispensed with, and the reading be again required and objected to, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

64. A motion to lay proposed amendments on the table, if it prevails, shall not affect the general subject to which said amendments are offered.

65. Every bill reported favorably by a committee and such other bills as the House may direct, shall be printed, unless the committee reporting such bill shall recommend that such bill shall not be printed. All bills shall be printed in bill form, the pages and lines to be numbered. The outer margin of each page to be not less than one and one-fourth inch, and shall be placed on the desk of each member not later than on the day preceding the day that the bill shall be taken up for second reading: Provided, That this rule shall not apply to bills reported during the last week of the session: Provided further, That all bills shall be printed on good paper. This rule shall not apply to the general appropriation bill.

66. No motion to suspend the constitutional rule requiring a bill to be read on three several days shall be entertained unless seconded by a majority of the House.

CHAPTER IX.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE.

67. The Principal and Assistant Clerks and their assistants, and the Doorkeeper and his assistants, shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Indiana, and to faithfully, impartially and honestly discharge the duties of their offices.

68. The Clerk shall keep a journal of the decisions of the Chair, to be inserted at the close of the Journal of the House.

69. Inasmuch as the number a bill takes when introduced by a member is only for convenience in filing the same, and a convenient reference in the matter of order, and is no part of the bill or act itself, it shall be the duty of the Assistant Clerk of the House to see that the title of every bill introduced appears on the Journal of the House, at every action thereon; that all joint resolutions amending the Constitution of the State shall appear of record in full, at each action thereon, and all motions, resolutions, reports, petitions and amendments to bills or other matters shall appear of record in a manner approved by the committee to examine the Journal.

70. It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to attend to the House during its sessions, announce all messages, keep the hall and committee rooms in perfect order, to prevent smoking in the halls and lobbies at all times, to maintain order in the lobbies and galleries, to execute all process issued by the authority of the House, and directed to him by the Speaker, and in all things to execute the commands of the Speaker and of the House.

72. All claims against the State shall first be presented in the House and referred to the Committee on Claims before being referred to any other committee.

73. When messages, including bills in all their phases, acts for the signature of the Speaker, and joint or concurrent resolutions are received from the Senate by the House, they shall be announced at the door by the Doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated in writing to the Chair by the person by whom sent.

74. Any standing rule or order of the House, or order of business, may be rescinded, changed or suspended without previous notice, upon a constitutional majority vote of the House, and a motion for such purpose shall be in order at any time and shall have precedence over all other business.

75. No person, except members of the General Assembly and its officers, and members of the Executive and Judicial Departments of State, shall be admitted upon the floor of the House without the consent of the Speaker.

76. Upon all questions not provided for by these rules it is ordered that the rules of "Jefferson's Manual" shall be regarded as the parliamentary guide of this House.
